

Charlie's words when he came to see them off at the platform; I might see you all sooner than you think.

If he was reading those hints right...

The first task was dragons.