

Бабник (m) [babnik]: Womaniser, skirt chaser.

“Саркози — бабник и скряга”

(Известия, 14.01.2008)

Бабоукладчик (m) [baboukladčik]: Alcoholic beverage used to get women into bed, as a rule the strength of the drink is not perceptible at first. Amaretto or Martini are sometimes called that way.

Другое название Бейлиса — бабоукладчик!

Базар (m) [bazar]: chatter, banter.

Базарить [bazarit’]: to chatter, to talk.

Байстрюк (m) [baystruk]: Bastard, loner.

Бакинские (pl) (pl) [bakinskije]: greenback, American Dollar. Ironic deformation of бакс (means in fact from Baku, but has nothing to do whatsoever with Azerbaijan).

Бакс (m) [baks]: Buck, US-Dollar. Loan word from American English (bucks), but it is considered as a singular in Russian. Plural is баксы.

Балалайка (f) [balalayka]: A masturbating woman. The term refers to the traditional Russian string instrument, which requires a specific finger technique (hence the alternative slang meaning).

Балдеть [baldet’]: to dig something, to strongly appreciate something.

Бандер (m) [bander]: Pimp, male manager of a brothel.

Бандерша (f) [banderša]: 1. Madam, female manager of a brothel; 2. unattractive, ugly woman.

Бараться (verb ipf) [barat’sja]: To copulate. In old Russian the verb meant to battle and comes from a Slavic root meaning to penetrate, to touch, to feel (compare Bulgarian барам, Macedonian бара).

Бардак (m) [bardak]: Brothel – figuratively means disorder, mess, chaos. Historically the word describes large earthenware with big openings. The figurative meaning is more commonly used:

Министры приходят и уходят, а бардак остается

Ministers come and go — the mess remains.

Бардач (m) [bardač]: Manager of a brothel.

Бардачный (adj.) [bardačny]: Chaotic, unruly, disorderly. “бардачное дело” “a messy business”.

Бардачок (m) [bardačok]: Glove compartment.

Баруха (f) [baruxa]: Prostitute (see — блядь, шлюха).