encryption key, for which even a small battery or perhaps even a capacitor should be enough.